20TH INF. BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

Rev. Charles L. Overstreet Will Preach in Cleveland Square Sunday Eve.

The large open air services in Cleveland Square Sunday evening will be addressed by Rev. Charles L. Overstreet, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who has just returned from his vacation in the eastern states. The concert will be given by the 20th U. S. Infantry band, which is from Chaplain Axton's own regiment. This band has played at all of the large open air services at the Port the past two years, and this is the first opportunity El Pasoans have had to hear it in town for some time. Chaplain Axton has willingly loaned the band, in accordance with the schedule made out in headquarters some time ago, and will use the Seventh Infantry band for his own services.

A feature of the services will be the cornet solo, "The Rosary," played by the band leader. A brass quartet from this band will lead the congregational singing, which will consist of stirring hymns. One of these, "The Church in the Wilderness," is that beautiful hymn sung two generations ago, which is still used in so many evangelistic meetings of the present time.

The downtown audience is rapidly learning the soldiers' favorite, "Brighten the Corner Where You are," under Mr. Dick's leadership, and will sing it again Sunday.

A pleasing innovation of the service will be a vocal solo by Chas. E. Andrews. By request he will sing the song so well known as a favorite of president McKinley, "Lead Kindly Light." Extra chairs have been secured, and an effort will be made to seat most of the people who have been compelled to stand in the aisles in the previous services.
